Modern World History The modern world history, the modern era or the modern period is the global, linear, historical-geographical approach to the time frame that comes post the classical history. Perhaps, this view is in contrast to the non-linear or rather the organic view of history which was initially put forth by the famous historian and philosopher Oswald Spengler in the early 20 th century. Modern World History: Modern Period, Contemporary History ... Modern World History. The world history describes the human history determined by the study of archaeological and written records. Ancient history begins with the invention of writing. However, the roots of civilization reach back to the earliest introduction of primitive technology and culture. Prehistory begins in the Paleolithic era followed by the Neolithic era and the Agricultural Revolution (between 8000 and 5000 BCE) in the Fertile Crescent.
